2020-21 ANNUAL REPORT

FROM THE PRINCIPAL

As another class graduates and we welcome a new class of Flyers, I look back on the past year with a thankful heart, inspired by our students, faculty, parents and supporters. I cannot express enough my sincere gratitude for all that you have given over the last year. Our students, parents, and faculty have adapted to the many challenges of this school year with grace. From seamless in-person and virtual classroom instruction to video assemblies to prom under the stars, I am so proud and thankful for the effort and creativity that was put into these events for our students.

We experienced two tragic losses this year with the deaths of Aubrey Bailes and Colten Miller. We will always remember them and continue to pray for their families and loved ones. Through those tragedies, we were reminded of how powerful the Flyer family truly is. I am thankful and humbled to be a part of such a remarkable group of people.

A sincere thank you to our Board of Directors for supporting our students, faculty and school behind the scenes. You give your time and talents to Loyola, and this year you have supported us and come to our rescue without asking for anything in return. We are proud to have an involved Board of Directors, and I know our Loyola family appreciates all you do.

I also want to express my gratitude to those who generously gave back to our school through financial contributions. Whether it was to our Annual Fund, Community Scholarship, Athletics, Flyer Alumni Association, St. Vincent's Academy Alumnae, or Loyola Parents' Association, your donations this year helped us continue our tradition of instilling conscience, character and compassion in students' lives. I hope that you remain dedicated to our school and its legacy.

To the Class of 2021: thank you for your tenacity and grace during a unique year. You made the necessary sacrifices during a difficult time, and your teachers, coaches, parents, and our community saw firsthand how you powered through and made the best out of a challenging situation. I was proud to stand before you at graduation on our campus and watch you become Flyer alumni. I pray for our graduating class that they may begin this new chapter in their lives with God's peace and guidance. I know they will make a positive difference in our world as they seek to fulfill their dreams.

It's a great year to be a Flyer!

Meet Our New Chaplains

Loyola College Prep is excited to welcome our new Chaplains, Father Jerry Daigle, Jr. and Father Raney Johnson!

Father Jerry Daigle, Jr. is the newest member of the St. John Berchmans family as he took his place as Father Mangum's associate at the beginning of July. Father Daigle is originally from South Louisiana, but he grew up in North Central Texas. He came to the Diocese of Shreveport as a college student in 1989, and he graduated from Northeast Louisiana University (now ULM) in Monroe. Now, Father Daigle is making a new home in Shreveport, and is delighted to have the chance to serve the Cathedral parish and school as Parochial Vicar and Loyola College Prep as chaplain.

Father Raney Johnson is a recently ordained priest for the Diocese of Shreveport. He was born and raised in Shreveport. He attended and graduated from Southwood High School and he graduated from Louisiana Tech University. He is the Parochial Vicar at St. Mary of the Pines, and is now one of the chaplains here at Loyola College Prep. He looks forward to working with all the parents and students and helping to continue to build the great Catholic culture at the only Catholic high school in Shreveport.

Father Daigle and Father Raney have an office in our Main building and will rotate being present on campus. We look forward to having Father Daigle and Father Raney here on campus to demonstrate faith in action, and help our students, faculty, and staff grow in their Catholic identity.

FROM THE BISHOP

After so many years as a parish priest in Arkansas, I was asked, frequently, how many different assignments I had had throughout my priesthood, and if given the opportunity, would I like to go back and be assigned there again. I always found these two questions as an opportunity to “go down memory lane,” and come up with an answer, even though I knew the opportunity would never come my way.

When I was first ordained a priest in 1977, I was assigned to a parish church in West Memphis, Arkansas, which had an elementary school attached to it, and two mission churches as well. Most of my 44 years as a priest involved being assigned as a parish priest, and most of these assignments had an elementary school too. They were all very good assignments, so it was hard to answer the two questions. But then I always find myself reminiscing about my three years teaching high school at Mount Saint Mary Academy in Little Rock. Among the many blessings of teaching there, was that I was able to form life-long relationships, and even though most of my students are now in their 50s, they carry with them the memories of three of the best years of my life.

So when the Pope assigned me to be the Bishop of Shreveport, I immediately looked to the diocese to see where “my” new high school(s) would be. I have had the privilege of being involved with Loyola since I arrived here, and I feel so much at home when I am doing something that includes you: the students and the teachers. Each visit to the campus, or when we are together in the Cathedral Church, takes me back to my years at Mt. St. Mary. I have often said when asked those two questions, that I loved my assignment at MSM, and would go back there in a heartbeat. And while it still holds wonderful memories – I now find such great joy in begin associated with Loyola. With time, I hope to love you as much as I was loved in Little Rock, and that I can be the kind of Bishop and pastor to you that brings you closer to our Lord as you journey through your Loyola experience.

Know that I pray for you each week and look forward to any opportunity to visit you or just be among you. Call me if you ever need me! May the Lord make the most of our relationship, and may He bless us and all of Loyola.

Yours in Christ,

+ Francis I. Malone
Bishop of Shreveport

SALUTATORIAN

state of THE SCHOOL ADDRESS

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT, EMBETH MARIE COYLE delivered the 2020-2021 State of the School Address recapping an eventful school year. Below are excerpts from Embeth's address.

"I believe the state of the school is found in the state of its students. This has been an unusual year to be a high school student. But thankfully on August 10, 2020, Loyola students were met with some normalcy as we entered 921 Jordan Street. As other high school students across the parish, state, and country were on a full or hybrid virtual schedule, Loyola students had the opportunity to be fully in person everyday. While others were met with unstable and uncertain times, Loyola students had comfort in knowing there will always be consistency because of adherence to our mission statement's three values- academic excellence, student involvement, and faith in action.

This year, more than ever, we are reminded that Loyola students meet the challenges of a changing world with confidence because we know we have been prepared for the outside world inside our classrooms. To be a Flyer is to strive for academic excellence.

To be a Flyer is to be involved. Any new restriction separating us from each other was met with a safe alternative to continue student involvement

As we go forth into the world, our faith is our guiding principle in how to set the world on fire. We view faith as a verb here at Loyola. To be a Flyer is to live your faith in action.

This year, our faith was challenged with the death of two classmates, freshman Colten Miller and senior Aubrey Bailes. As we tried to make sense of these unthinkable losses to our Loyola community, we recognized that our church is our sanctuary and our faith is our comfort. Where else but Loyola? Here at Loyola, faith is a verb—it's what we do—it's who we are.

So, what is the state of the school? Just ask my classmates. It is good. Very good."

Flyer Faculty

Kiley Pulliam constantly searches for ways to create a vibrant learning environment - whether that be designing a new STEM-based class, finding ways to make students feel special, or applying for grants to make these innovations possible.

With a focus on teaching physics, Pulliam - who notes this is her $\sqrt{30.25}$ th year at Loyola - also teaches robotics, introduction to drone piloting, and principles of 3D printing.

"I actually taught physics here at Loyola in Spring 2004 before going to graduate school," said Pulliam. "It was an enjoyable experience, so when I moved back, I looked into open positions and found that Algebra II was open at that time. I enjoy that part of my job is to continually learn and improve myself for the benefit of students. I have learned so many things I never thought I'd encounter. It's a win-win."

Her passion for her students is evident. From throwing seasonal parties to "knighting" students for their accomplishments, Pulliam wants to make sure those in her class enjoy being at school.

"I am passionate about the students. They will be handed a very uncertain world but until then I want them to enjoy being kids," she said. "I give out way too much candy, and I sometimes show up in costume. Learning happens during all these things, but it is important to me that students feel a little lighter after my class."

Her teaching style was formed by her time working for the Princeton Review - a philosophy that teaching is better when done as a performance.

"This even included a policy of using multiple color markers in your board work, all to capture your attention and make you want to learn," she said. "I have since taken the performance part more literally. While not every class is a grand performance, the year is punctuated with them: Math Madness, Mardi Gras, Space Day, Black History Month, Amongst Y'all."

She also makes it a point to introduce her students to a variety of technology modalities, something she noted is "no longer simply a tool to demonstrate science principles in the classroom, but an essential endeavor to train students for the technology-heavy career demands of the future."

That is one of the reasons she decided to apply for a grant from the Ark-La-Tex chapter of the Armed Forces Communications & Electronics Association (AFCEA). This past Spring, she was one of two Loyola faculty members to receive the grant funding. Pulliam used the grant to start a 3D printing program for teaching purposes and to provide the school and community with printed items.

She has exciting plans for both her 3D printing class students—printing a drone and hosting a fashion show—and those not taking the course.

"I'd like to see if students take an interest in the machine as it is in my classroom and see if they have any interesting ideas to try," said Pulliam. "Of course I have ideas, but this is a unique opportunity to watch students interact with something most have never even seen in person and see how creative they can be with their ideas!"

Pulliam's enthusiasm for teaching is almost contagious, but for her, it is seeing that same excitement come to life in her students that inspires her each day. "That enthusiasm from students interested in really finding out why something is the way it is, is one of the most fulfilling aspects of teaching science."

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

The Road (Trip) to College

This summer Declan Chmielewski and his family used planes, trains and automobiles to travel the country. What was their goal? Touring Declan's dream colleges before his senior year at Loyola College Prep.

A straight A student, SGA Executive Treasurer, and National Honor Society member, Declan is driven and dedicated to his studies, school, and community.

"Declan is truly a remarkable student who studies hard, gives back to his school and community," said Glad Alexander, Director of College Placement. "When I heard about his plans to tour some of the top colleges in the country, I was so thrilled for him. He had the opportunity to really experience these colleges, and I knew he would take plenty of notes and come back with some great stories!"

At the end of his junior year at Loyola, Declan and his family mapped out their college tour to include a stop at sister Maeve's North American Irish Dancing Championship in Phoenix, Arizona.

The Chmielewski family traveled all over the country from the Midwest to the west coast to New England and down through DC and Charlotte and toured a total of 15 colleges.

"When we were visiting Caltech, I was about to get a tour from an alumni, and another alumni awarded us the fortune of dining at the Alumni Club," said Declan. "It was an incredible experience to be able to do that, and one that I know not many high school seniors have a chance to do."

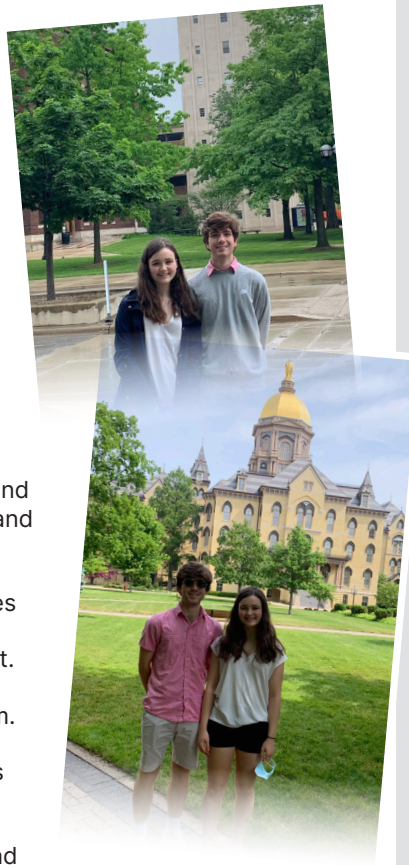

When the Chmielewski family landed in Boston, Massachusetts, they were tired and decided to sightsee the following day: Sunday. Dedicated Catholics, the Chmielewski's started the day going to mass. They went to mass at St. Paul's outside of Harvard Square when they happened upon a special Harvard graduate who started up a conversation with Declan.

"He introduced himself as Father George, and I told him we were touring colleges in Boston, and were about to walk around Harvard," said Declan. "He, an alumni from Harvard who received his postgraduate degree in biochemical engineering, offered to give us a tour of the campus. For two hours we walked, cracked jokes, and later shared lunch with him in Cambridge."

On the two-week trip, Declan was able to not only tour his dream colleges and receive a private tour of Harvard from a priest, but he was able to see firsthand what his future would look like at each stop.

"The trip was so beneficial to my college application process," he said. "There is so much more to a college than its prestige and admissions statistics found on Google. Being there helped place myself in the 'environment,' and I was able to tell if it was a good fit for me. I was able to revise a large list of colleges I knew little about and understand what type of community would help me excel during my college years all while strolling through different campuses. I really appreciate the sacrifice and stress my parents endured to make the trip possible."

What is Declan's final choice? He hasn't decided quite yet, but we can't wait to find out!

90 Years of Dedication

During the 2020-21 school year, Camille Meehan, Tony Rinaudo and Cathy Kyle did something they haven't done in a long, long time.

Not teach.

The three veteran Loyola educators – with a combined 90 years of experience – each left the classroom behind for a new endeavor – retirement.

Meehan began at Loyola in the 1991-92 school year as a language teacher and also served as SGA advisor for 28 years. In addition to teaching French (and Spanish for a few years), she was Foreign Language department head.

It's hard to put into words what these three have meant to our school," said Loyola Principal John LeBlanc. "Their dedication for all these years is an example of what makes our school great. It took me awhile once the school year started to realize they weren't here.

Just don't ask Meehan for a short list of her favorite memories of being at Loyola. "All of the SGA dances and events ... bus trips out of town ... Orientation Day and the excitement of a new school year ... state championship games ... sharing my favorite books with students ... LASC conventions with the SGA members," she said. "There's way too many to list."

In the last few years, Loyola's association with Garden Park Nursing & Rehabilitation Center has been particularly special as Meehan helped direct the school's partnership in connecting the students to the residents of the facility and seeing the joy that it brought to both.

But perhaps the most special was the seeing her four children come through Loyola and having the opportunity to teach three of them.

Rinaudo was a member of the faculty since 1971 and served in a variety of roles, including biology teacher, assistant football coach, head football coach, assistant baseball coach, assistant principal, golf coach and athletic director.

CAMILLE MEEHAN

TONY RINUADO

But his association with Jordan Street goes back further than that. Rinaudo began as a student at St. John's Grade School in the mid 1950s before moving next door to Jesuit High School and graduated in 1967. "I'm not sure how long it's been that I've been going to Jordan Street," he said, "but I know it's been a long time."

Having seen a multitude of changes over the years, Rinaudo points to one in particular as being the most significant. "The year we became a co-ed school (in 1987) was the key," he said. "Without that, who knows what would have happened."

"Not only has Coach Rinaudo been a huge part of this school, but he has been such a big influence on me," current assistant principal and head football coach Mike Greene said. "When I got into coaching, he's the one who took me under his wing and helped me learn what I needed to know. And when I came back as assistant principal a few years ago, he was there to help me learn once again."

Among his favorite memories are the 1976 state football championship and two golf state championships that he coached, but the top memory is less specific. "All the students in those 37 years," he said.

Kyle came to Loyola in the 1996-97 school year when her son was a freshman and, like so many faculty members, took on a variety of roles -- social studies and math teacher, Senior Class sponsor, Social Studies chairman, Senior Trip sponsor and coordinator, cheerleading sponsor, pep squad sponsor ... and more.

"What makes teaching at Loyola special is being able get involved with the students, being able to talk about religion and praying each day with students, and being able to run your own classroom with little interference," she says. "It was great to be supported when you wanted to do special projects and take field trips. Loyola also has the BEST students."

Her greatest memories include going on European trips and traveling with students, going to cheer camp and driving the "White Van," getting to know the students and having so many great teacher/student relationships with them.

“Loyola has a special relationship that students can have with the teachers,” Kyle says. “Plus, the willingness of the parents to help in any way to make their experience a success.”

"It's a family atmosphere," Meehan says of Loyola. "There's great tradition and history to go with it. The students are respectful and eager and the parents are involved and caring."

"Plus the discipline," Rinuado says. "That's something other schools don't have."

With decades of experience, these three have seen their share of changes over the years. The implementation of technology, renovations, the construction of a new cafeteria (St. Vincent's Hall) and the Athletic Complex, the complete makeover of the gym, a new library ... the list goes on and on. "I even remember when the pay phone was taken out of the compound!" Meehan says.

All three have plans for retirement. "I'm planning to spend more time with my wife and doing whatever we want to do whenever we want to do it," Rinaudo said. "And plenty of golf!"

"Reading, traveling and volunteering," Meehan said. "I've got four grandchildren, so I'll spend time with them and start organizing many years of pictures and memories."

"Spend time with my four grandchildren, garden, read, quilt and travel when it is finally safe to do so," Kyle said. "I may also do some subbing at LCP!"

But Loyola will never be far away from them.

"I am so grateful for the opportunity that Loyola gave me to be a part of the lives of so many outstanding young people who are now adults and no doubt have become leaders in their communities across the country," Meehan said. "My hope is that my students know that they are still remembered with love and that I wish the best for them as they continue to make their way in the world."

Meekins Completes Career at Loyola

Hal Meekins, who spent the last 10 years of his long teaching career at Loyola, also retired during the 2020-21 school year.

Meekins came to Loyola in 2012 and taught a variety of courses including Physics AP (C), Honors Physics, College Prep Physics, Environmental Science, Robotics, and Calculus BC.

HAL MEEKINS

Meekins said he had so many great memories at Loyola that "it's difficult to make a selection."

After a lengthy career in Caddo Parish schools, Meekins did find there to be a difference in teaching at Loyola. "The freedom that classroom teachers have to teach their academic courses using techniques they consider to be most effective," he said.

"The opportunity for teachers to express their faith is what makes Loyola special," Meekins said. "Having Mass every week is also very special."

Meekins said he plans to do some traveling but "my greatest plan for retirement is to continue breathing!"

Flyers Mean Business

Loyola College Prep Junior, Claire Scott, was the big winner at the third annual Flyers and Buyers competition.

Five Flyer student finalist teams presented their business pitches to local business "Buyers" last spring. The event sponsored by Louisiana Tech College of Business, Home Federal Bank, and Barksdale Federal Credit Union is conducted through the Loyola Law Studies Program, and teaches students how to start a business, make a marketing plan, and answer tough questions from potential investors.

The Buyers named Scott the winner with her timely business, Air Candies, a 100% cotton scented patch that adheres to the inside of masks. Scott won $500 cash as well as a $1,000 scholarship to Louisiana Tech University's College of Business. The second and third place teams also won a $500 scholarship to the College as well.

"I was extremely impressed with each of the pitches. Claire's confidence, personality, and passion for her product allowed her rise to the top, though, as she sold us on her business," said Dr. Chris Martin, Dean of Louisiana Tech University's College of Business and a Flyers & Buyers judge. "The College of Business is proud to partner with Loyola College Prep to promote this early exposure to entrepreneurship."

Scott's business, Air Candies, is dedicated to providing customers with the highest quality scented mask pads that create a refreshing experience. Scott said she hopes she can expand her product locally.

"I am excited to be the 2021 Flyers & Buyers winner!" Scott said. "I am proud of my business plan, and I hope that it will continue to grow. I am thankful that Loyola provides opportunities like this for students who have a passion for entrepreneurship."

The Loyola Law Studies program sponsor, Joe Landreaneau, works with students during the first semester of the school year to develop their business plans and selects the top finalists.

"Every year our students impress me with their passions, ideas, and presentations," Landreaneau said. "I am so proud of all of the finalists and thankful for our sponsors and judges who invested time and money into our students."

Greene, Schonfarber Lead Loyola Sports

Big changes for Flyer Athletics happened over the summer with the announcement of Mike Greene as the interim head football coach and Ben Schonfarber as the Athletic Director.

Current Assistant Principal of Discipline Mike Greene, who ranks No. 7 in coaching wins among Caddo-Bossier schools, is back on the sidelines as the interim coach for the Flyers this year. Coach Greene will continue to fulfill his role of Assistant Principal of Discipline.

Greene was the head coach at Loyola, Airline, Fair Park and Booker T. Washington from 1992 to 2017 before becoming assistant principal at Loyola for the last three years.

"All along in the back of mind I've been thinking about how much I miss coaching," Greene said. "So when I got the call, I didn't even have to think about it. I knew this was something I wanted to do. I couldn't be more excited."

Greene played for the Flyers from 1980-82 and became an assistant coach in 1987. He took over as head coach in 1993 and was 30-27, highlighted by an appearance in the Superdome in 1994 for the Class 2A state championship game.

"More than anything else, I want these kids to know the importance of what Flyer football is all about," Greene said. "It's not always about who has the best athletes or the most players. Flyer football has always been about wanting to win and doing it the right way like it's been done for a long time. It's important to me to keep that going."

Ben Schonfarber is currently the head boys basketball coach and serves as the physical education teacher. He was named the Athletic Director earlier this school year and will take on that responsibility in addition to his other roles at Loyola College Prep.

"We are excited to have Ben support our coaches and players with everything they need to succeed this year in their sports," Principal John H. LeBlanc said. "This includes day-to-day logistics for athletics, LHSA paperwork, ensuring coaches are up to date on their training and budgets, and helping our students grow and achieve their goals."

Ben is a 2009 LCP graduate and has worked at Loyola for a total of nine years. He left Loyola for a year to get his master's degree in sport management at Florida State and worked as a graduate assistant with the men's basketball program.

ALUMNI SPOTLIGHT

DR. JOHN EVANS

On the night of November 10, 2000, on a football field in Reserve, La., John Evans' future changed. But at that moment, it wasn't his future he was worried about. Of more immediate concern was his broken right leg.

In a game that was already lost on a play that had no chance of success, Evans, the Loyola quarterback, was tackled as he scrambled toward the Flyers' sideline.

He didn't get up.

If you had asked 16-year-old John Evans what his chosen occupation was going to be when he graduated from college, not only would "heart surgeon" not have been at the top of the list, it wouldn't have even made the list at all.

But in the course of enduring the rehabilitation of his broken leg, things began to change. Today, he is John M. Evans, MD, a cardiovascular & thoracic surgeon at CHRISTUS Shreveport-Bossier.

"I probably thought I would go into the oil and gas business," Evans said. "But I was fascinated with the process of what was going on with getting my leg fixed. I knew then that I wanted to be a part of helping people in that healing process."

Evans came back quite well from his broken leg during the playoff game in his sophomore year and went on to be a three-year starter at quarterback. Two decades later, he is still No. 7 on the Flyers' career passing yards list. But when he came back to Loyola to speak at Career Day in March, 2020, it wasn't to discuss touchdown passes.

"It was surreal and nostalgic," Evans said. "I realized that I had not stepped foot in those halls since graduation, and that is too long. The students were very respectful and engaging. I would have loved to have had a Career Day when I was in high school, and I think it is outstanding that Loyola is providing this opportunity for its students now. I was fortunate Loyola gave me the chance to participate, as the whole experience was rewarding and quite an honor."

After earning a degree in biology from LSU, Evans graduated from LSU's medical school in Shreveport in 2011. He then completed a residency in general surgery at UA-Birmingham over the next five years and says he "fell in love with heart surgery." He completed a residency in cardiothoracic surgery at Vanderbilt before moving back to Shreveport in 2019.

"I greatly enjoy being a physician-surgeon and consider it a great honor and privilege to take care of patients," Evans said. "I get satisfaction working with my hands and achieving a technical objective, and that certainly gets fulfilled each day in the operating room. It is rewarding to help people; contributing in the effort to improve a patient's quality of life, oftentimes prolonging their life, and even sometimes saving their life."

It's a road that started at 921 Jordan Street.

"Loyola served as a launch pad, sending me on my way to achieve my career dreams and aspirations," Evans said. "As a student at Loyola, I did not appreciate the premium education I was receiving, but in retrospect, I certainly do now and am forever indebted to the school. I have thanked my parents for sending me to such a fine school, for making that commitment and investment in me."

That commitment and investment is just as important today as it was when Evans was a student. "The challenging curriculum clearly sets one up for success at the next level both academically and professionally," he said. "The wide array of extracurricular opportunities from sports, to academic clubs, to community involvement and enhancement opportunities facilitate development of a balanced student."

"Most importantly, however, is the school's cultivation and nurturing of its students' faith," he added. "The aforementioned pursuits are futile if not set on a firm foundation of Catholic Christian principled values promoted by a school such as Loyola, and this is certainly reassuring and refreshing in a progressively more secular society."

Married with four children, Evans recognizes what Loyola did for him and can do for current and future students. "I greatly encourage the current and prospective students to take advantage of what this great school has to offer," he said. "This school can serve as a launch pad that can shoot you up to the moon and beyond. Develop good study habits now that will serve you well in college and beyond. Compete against no one except yourself. Demand nothing but a full effort and you will not be disappointed."

HALL of HONOR

In Memoriam

The Hall of Honor is the highest recognition anyone can receive at Loyola College Prep. These distinguished men and women are dedicated to our school, its legacy, and students. In the last year, we lost four inductees, and we will always remember their contributions and the impact they had on Loyola.

SVA ALUMNAE SPOTLIGHT

Dr. Martha McDonald Whyte

We are so proud of the heroic efforts of so many of our alumnae during this past year, but we want to especially highlight the ongoing service of Dr. Martha McDonald Whyte, SVA Class of '84. Martha is the Region 7 Director for the Office of Public Health which includes nine parishes in Northwest Louisiana. She has been a steady source of reliable information throughout the pandemic and continues to advocate for everyone to be vaccinated. We salute Martha for her steadfast service and leadership in our community!

SVAUPDATE

The St. Vincent's Alumnae Association is as strong as ever, despite going two years without our usual social gatherings. We stayed in touch through social media and through our annual print newsletter. The spirit of St. Vincent's and the affection we have for our alma mater were not dimmed by our inability to gather for the annual brunch or to celebrate Tag Day as we have for many years. Since Tag Day is traditionally our main fundraiser for the alumnae scholarship program, we needed to come up with new sources of income in order to continue to support our legacies at Loyola College Prep. A picture on Facebook of the daughter of one of our alumnae wearing her mother's original St. Vincent's sweatshirt led to a successful fundraiser. Thanks to Susan Moffitt Henson, Class of '78, for making arrangements with Shreveport Gymnastic Supply to recreate the sweatshirts, and thanks to Tony Catanese, Jesuit Class of '67 (husband of Margaret Pernici Catanese SVA Class of '68) for generously donating a portion of the sweatshirt sales to the SVAA to support the scholarship program. Alumnae from across the country bought close to 400 sweatshirts for themselves and family members! Besides helping to fund our scholarship program this year, seeing pictures of so many alumnae across the country wearing their sweatshirts helped to connect us during this pandemic year, and brought back fond memories of our high school years.

2021-22 SVA Scholarship Recipients

Scholarship recipients for the 2021-22 school year were presented at the Loyola honors assembly in May. Vincentian Awards were presented to Nicholas Avallone, son of Colleen Smith Avallone '88 and grandson of Rosie Cimino Avallone '57; Mary Huckabee, granddaughter of Mary Elizabeth Lowery Morgan '63; Roy Maxey, grandson of Louie Griffith Chalfant '60; and James Wojtkiewicz, son of Lisa Ebarb Wojtkiewicz '85 and grandson of Angie Marsiglia Ebarb '55. St. Francis de Sales Awards were given to Camilla Alsup, daughter of Traci George Alsup '83 and granddaughter of Dayle John George '58; Noah Cascio, son of Shannon Rice Cascio '85 and grandson of Angelina DeFatta Rice '58; Hugh Herzog, grandson of Judy O'Neal Williams '66, Mikal Tyner, granddaughter of Susan Lanigan Beard Gable '75 and great granddaughter of Margaret Kelly Lanigan '1920; and Abby Weego, granddaughter of Marilyn Payne Davis '71.

FROM THE ADVANCEMENT DIRECTOR

Dear Loyola College Prep Community,

Thank you all for a successful 2020-2021 fiscal year! We were able to meet our Annual Fund goal of $300,000 in addition to generous donations you made towards scholarships and other restricted funds. We are incredibly grateful to you and your dedication to our school.

The money raised during this unique time is a great show of our support for the mission of our school. The Annual Fund is the cornerstone of all giving to Loyola that allows us to fulfill our mission year after year. Last year, when change came quickly, your gifts to the Annual Fund empowered Loyola College Prep to swiftly and creatively find solutions to meet the immediate needs of our students.

This school year we are excited to add a strong Corporate Sponsorship Program to continue to grow and strengthen the Annual Fund, athletics, and other school programs and events. Our corporate sponsors are our partners, and this new structure is designed to showcase their investment in our school and our support for their businesses. If you or a family member would like to join our group of Corporate Sponsors, there is still time! Please contact me for more information.

On a personal note, my first year at Loyola was one to remember. Everyone, including parents, staff, and alumni, has been so welcoming, and for that, I am so thankful. I was able to experience Loyola through highs and lows, and I discovered the compassionate and giving nature of our school community. I'm excited to help Loyola grow, and I know the future has good things to come!

As a Catholic healthcare system, CHRISTUS' mission of extending the healing ministry of Jesus Christ, paired with our core values of Dignity, Compassion, Excellence, Stewardship and Integrity, seamlessly aligns to complement Loyola's goals for student development: academic excellence, spiritual growth, faith in action, strong character and service to others.

CHRISTUS is honored to invest in the Loyola students, and we celebrate their strong foundation established at Loyola and their bright futures as our community's leaders of tomorrow!

Thank you to our High Flyer Sponsor:

Thank you to the Wall Center for Plastic Surgery and Jade MediSpa for your commitment to our students and faculty at Loyola College Prep!

A MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT

Dear Friends and Family of Loyola College Prep,

I have many mixed emotions as I pen my final letter as departing president of your Loyola College Prep Board of Directors. I feel tremendous pride that LCP not only endured the chaos of last year but excelled despite it. I am honored to have collaborated with our dedicated educators, parents, and alumni who worked tirelessly to make that happen. I am inspired by the energy and enthusiasm of our students who work hard to realize their dreams and the mission of LCP.

The opportunity for success offered by a Loyola education does not come without cost and great personal sacrifice by our parents and families. Rest assured, we have an excellent Board of Directors and financial team that takes their fiscal responsibility very seriously. Despite the challenges of paying down our debt, competitive staff salaries, and the surprises of daily operations (our heater), we finished 2021 in the black, largely due to the generosity of our parents, alumni, faculty, and community. I am grateful for your continued support through your gifts of time, talent, treasure, and prayer.

In closing, though I am sad I no longer have an LCP student, I am excited to become a part of a proud tradition of parent alumni of LCP. I look forward to Loyola's continued success and recognition as an institution of academic excellence and faith formation for years to come.

Respectfully yours,

THERESA MURPHY

My nephew, Will Cummings, tragically passed away on April 3, 2021, and it was important to my family to help establish a scholarship at Loyola to honor his legacy. Will truly had a passion for Loyola College Prep. He developed many of his life-long friendships during his four years on Jordan Street, and I am proud that we can continue to celebrate his life through this scholarship.

THE SCALF FAMILY SCHOLARSHIP

Ann Scalf (right) and Helen Colbert (former Flyer Faculty) hold a picture of their parents, Eva and John Scalf. Their parents' commitment to Catholic education was immense. They were the first family to enroll five daughters at the same time in St. Vincent's Academy. The Daughters of the Cross revised their tuition schedule to accommodate the five sisters. Although Eva and John were not wealthy, their commitment to Catholic education remained unwavering. It is in memory of their deep devotion to Catholic education that "The Scalf Family Scholarship" is named.
